Music, physical education dropped, class sizes increase

TEACHERS WON'T COME TO ALTONA

— High school understaffed

Altona High School is grossly understaffed and has a high staff turnover because teachers are not prepared to live in the western suburbs.

This is stated in a report prepared by principal Mr. G. L. Shee for Altona council's Education Committee and released by Mayor Cr. Doug Grant.

Mr. Shee said it had been possible to cope this year only by the use of most drastic measures, "which are bad educationally".

He said he had to reduce the number of form one classes from five to four which resulted in the average size of each class being increased from an average of 36 to an average of 45.

"For form one pupils this is disastrous," he said. "The problems that resulted were an increase in discipline problems, an increase in damage to rooms and furniture, and a need for more furniture to accommodate the larger classes."

"Individual attention has become impossible."

Last week Mr. Shee told The Star that vacancies for a senior mistress and a senior assistant had not as yet been filled for next year, and half the present staff would be leaving.

Mr. Shee said in his report:

• we are grossly understaffed;

• there is a high turnover of staff. Very few teachers have taught five or more years and very few have taught at Altona High School more than a year;

• an extremely heavy burden has to be borne by the competent teachers with long experience;

• generally speaking, teachers will not make their homes in Altona or the western suburbs. There are a few who are prepared to live close to the school, but flats are few and expensive;

Wrangle

• The administration should never permit Altona High School to be robbed of permanent qualified teachers.

This last characteristic is the basis of a present wrangle between the school's advisory council and the Director of Secondary Education (Mr. E. A. Schruhm).

Four members of the advisory council including president Mr. I. Herbert and vice-president Mr. K. Maxwell have written to Mr. Schruhm asking that a teacher at the school, Mr. E. Remfrey, should not be taken by the School of Education for two half-days a week.

"Staffing strength has become so weak over the past three years that Altona High School must be one of the poorest in this respect in the whole State," the letter said.

"Music and Physical Education have disappeared from the curriculum in the last three years because of the lack of trained teachers. Latin is on the way out and it appears that science is now in danger."

Mr. Shee said that Mr. Remfrey was one of the schools most experienced teachers, having taught for five years. He teaches junior science and Leaving and Matriculation Chemistry.

Alarming gap

Included in Mr. Shee's report is a table showing the pupil enrolment at the school against the number of teachers required and the number actually employed.

It shows that the number of pupils has increased from 650 in 1968 to 713 in 1970, while the number of teachers at the school has dropped from 34 to 30 and the number needed risen from 32 to 36.

"There has been an alarming increase in the gap between the school's staffing needs and its supplies," he said. But Mr. Shee stressed

The Cat got away

'Batman' Leo Beekmans, 5, and his brother 'Robin', Ian Beekmans, 3, found the 'cat burglar' at Ronald Avenue, North Altona Kindergarten's annual fancy dress ball.

"The Cat," Katherine Kelly, 5, disappeared in the "Cat's" characteristic manner before a picture could be taken of her.

Special guests were the mayor and mayoress, Cr. and Mrs. D. K. Grant.

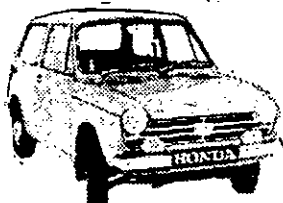

Winners: Four years, best boy, "artist," Jason Kerrs. Best girl — "Little Red Riding Hood," Rebecca Duane. Kinder only — "post box," Rodney Johnson. Best girl — "genie in the bottle," Kerrie Smith.

Five to 10 years: Boy — "safety first," David Butlin and "I am a big head," John Cornish.

Best pair: "Steptoe and Son," Neal and Mark Hotham.

that because of the dedication and enthusiasm of the school's senior teachers, he expected the Matriculation pass rate at the school this year to equal last year's 68 per cent.

He said the same enthusiasm had enabled experiments in science and mathematics to be carried out. At form one level science students worked at their own pace under teacher guidance and supervision, while a mathematics room for experimentation in a modern teaching method was also being established.

The report said an important factor was the travelling necessary for teachers to perform their daily tasks.

Thirteen teachers travel an average of three and a half miles in a one-way journey lasting no more than about 10 minutes, but 18 teachers travel between 10 and 34 miles in a one-way journey, the report said.

Mr. Shee makes the following recommendations in his report:

• As so many teachers travel such long distances to get to school, some financial assistance for the cost of travel is desirable.

• The school is not asking for more than it is entitled to, so the under-supply of teachers must not happen again.

A history of land development in Altona

The history of land development in Altona would not be complete without a further mention of the men who pioneered the land.

Foremost among these were the Cherry family, covered only in brief last week and this is where we take up the story...

It appears that three homesteads appeared on Cherry's land — one was just north of Cherry Lake and was called "Seaford". The second was north of Kororoit Creek Road on the west side of the creek of that name about level with Blackshaws Road named "Kororoit Park". Homestead No. 3, "Brooklyn Lodge" was in the area of Brooklyn but its precise location is not yet known.

Cherry most likely raised dairy cows and possibly sheep on his property. When William Cherry died the farm was divided among three sons: Robert, William Jr., and James.

ROBERT CHERRY

He lived at Seaford until 1888 and held 1354 acres of what was known as third class land for land tax purposes. When he moved from his property in 1838 the auctioneers stated that among a list of farm equipment, 35 cows were for sale.

Robert moved to Hawthorn and the property was leased to Mr. MacMieken and later to Mr. T. E. Lempriere about 1900. A brief history of Robert is as follows: Born 1839 in Ireland, came to Australia in 1841, lived first at Williamstown, then at Keilor.

Married Elizabeth Blair in 1874 and had four children (a son and three daughters) of whom only one survived. Date of death now known.

He owned the southern portion of his father's property.

WILLIAM CHERRY JR.

Owned the centre section of his father's property. It was rated as second class land, valued at £1259 ($2518). The property covered 1253 acres. The centre homestead previously referred to would have been on this farm (Kororoit Park).

It seems that by 1880, W. Cherry, Jr., lived at Balwyn and the property was either leased or an overseer was in charge of the property. He died about 1882 and a Mrs. C. M. Abbot acquired the property.

This was the farm that David Grieve in later years owned.

JAMES CHERRY

Owned most of the northerly portion of the father's holdings. It consisted of about 1224 acres of second class land valued at £1172 ($2344). A house, Brooklyn Lodge, stood somewhere within its borders.

He seems to have resided on this farm according to the land tax registers. J. Cherry's address was given as Williamstown, Footscray and Brooklyn which were all correct as his properties boundaries extended into all those named places.

His death occurred by 1904. Further research will, I hope throw more light on the Cherry family.

DAVID ROSS

Is first heard of in Pioneers of Port Phillip as holding land in 1844-5 in the Wyndham area. In the Beach" and/or Wyndham. Some stock must have been raised on the property for when the property was first offered for sale in 1885, mention was made that 500 acres were sown with lucerne.

Oats were also grown as a crop for in late 1887 tenders were called for the purchase of about 100 tons of oats from the Laverton Bay Estate (Altona).

Phelps' property for land tax purposes was classed as third class land and valued at £2752 ($5504).

In 1887 Joseph (John had died a couple of years previously) sold the property to the Honorable Alfred Thomas Clark for £165,000 ($330,000) for land development.

Before we deal with the next phase of Altona's land development in detail, let us finish stage one and list some of the other early land owners.

EDWARD BLACKSHAW

This man purchased 350 acres of land at the west end of the road that bears his name.

Newspaper reports show that he was in residence at least in the 1880s and that among other items he raised pigs.

A brief history: Born 1849, Devonshire, England. Came to Australia in 1853. Parents settled in Sydnham district. Married 1878 to Clara Griffiths, three sons, seven daughters. The date of his death is not known.

CORNELIUS WELTON

Appears to have lived on the south side of Blackshaws Road, between Millers Road and Mills Street. Apart from a report in the Williamstown Advertiser of 28/2/1891, that his house was damaged by fire, little is known about him.

Other names appear on the early land maps but there is no evidence at present to show whether any of those people ever settled in the Altona area so that they are at present discounted.

EARLY ALTONA, 1887

Here is a description of what any person would have seen if he or she cared to visit this area in 1887 (and very few cared to).

Let us join our visitor as he passes North Williamstown station in a horse-drawn cab which he has hired for the journey. We amble down Kororoit Creek Road in a westerly direction. Quite a number of houses line the road but soon they are only on the north side because the Rifle Range is on the south side of us.

After a while the houses become sparser and the road worse, soon we pass the new works of the Newport Gas Co. on the right side and then we are in swamp land. To the north the freezing works can be seen with its evil smelling drain running into the swamp. "No wonder typhoid breaks out each summer" muses the tourist.

As we approach Maddox Road and if we look hard, the ruins of the ill-fated Williamstown (Taet-gow) Coal Prospecting Co. may be seen on the right.

A piercing whistle and some smoke tells us that a train from Geelong is passing. "We are lucky being such a young colony that we have such a large and modern railway system," our friend comments to the cab driver.

As the horse draws us further west we pass a notice on the north side of the road informing us that the magnificent swampy low-lying ground behind the notice and to the railway is the famed "South Newport Estate" which the local Member, Hon. A. T. Clark, sub-divided and put on the market successfully a number of times since January 30th last year.

How anyone in their right mind would buy land here is hard for our traveller to understand but on we go. Soon another sign is seen and this time advertising the advantages of the "Epsom Estate."

A. T. Clark behind this one too, thinks our visitor. He remembers the press ads of over a year ago, offering free train rides, food to visitors on that first sale in Nov., 1885 and on a number of subsequent occasions, quite successful too.

The cabby interrupts our visitor's thoughts with:

"The locals hold their fox terriers coursing races on that estate your gazing at."

With this piece of information tucked in his head our hero continued his daydreams, "Where was I? Oh yes, Mr. Clark, he also had his finger in the Land pie at Laverton last year, what did they call it? "The new model Suburb."

By this time our traveller has reached Racecourse Road, here he pauses and looks around him, to the north is a wooden platform with a double railway leading from the Geelong line to it.

This, he remembers is what the newspapers termed "The shortest railway in the colony if not the shortest in the world," when it was being built to serve the racecourse two years ago.

land sales of 1850 Ross with Alexander Robinson purchased 112 acres of land on part of which stands the S.E.C. Briquette Depot in Altona East for £1 ($2) per acre.

Robinson fades out of the picture but we know the following of David Ross: Born 1794 Tain Rosshire, Scotland, came to Australia 1840 married Johanna and settled at Hatherly.

This building was situated just west of the swamp that still exists in the S.E.C. Briquette Depot and fronted Ross Road just north of the Geelong railway. Nothing remains of the building now.

Ross purchased another 158 acres south of Blackshaws Road and west of Blemheim Road, three four acre blocks in the Altona East area on 17/4/1855 and later on he bought four five acre blocks in the area west of Chambers Road near Kororoit Creek making his initial purchased total 300 acres.

One of David's sons Donald, said to be the second white child born in the district (Spottiswoode was first). Later lived on Chambers Road where Carbon Black now is. David Ross died in 1879.

Various members lived on the property until early this century when the property was sold. The Ross' seem to have eventually owned most of the land between, Blemheim and Chambers Roads.

The type of farming carried on at the Ross' seems to have been dairying, some crop growing, raising of horses and cattle breeding.

THOMAS LEMPRIERE

As mentioned earlier, this man leased J.R. Cherry's "Seaford" about the turn of the century. Mrs. Maslen, grand-daughter of Donald Ross described this man as a colorful character, the squire type.

He had a manager, Len Battern, his sister, Florence, was the housekeeper, then came Percy the colored boy and a family lived in a blue-stone cottage nearby.

Lempriere conducted a dairy farm for Melbourne markets, another feature was the hunt breakfasts held at "Seaford". Lempriere was a very prominent member of the Melbourne Hunt Club. Judging from various newspaper reports over the years, deer seemed to be the main quarry but I imagine foxes, rabbits and birds went for cover when the hunt was on, just in case.

This "Squire type" later married his housekeeper and moved to Whittlesea.

The farm later passed into Rowden's hands who continued dairying for a number of years.

JOHN AND JOSEPH PHELPS

These brothers acquired Langhorne's property in 1874. The acreage being quoted at 2664.

The approximate boundary was as follows:— North boundary — Kororoit Creek Road west to Geelong Road. This was the north-west boundary. Then south down the road once used to transport explosives. Then east along to the Geelong railway then down Victoria Street to Queen Street, then east along this road to where Apex Park is, then along the shore line east until near where the Working Men's Club building is. Then along Civic Parade west to Medford Street thence north back to Kororoit Creek Road.

The Phelps apparently owned other stations or farms, according to a book published in 1888, Melbourne and its Metropolis and that they put a Mr. William MacPherson in charge at Altona.

WILLIAM MACPHERSON

Was born in Scotland in 1825. He immigrated to South Australia in 1847, worked in that colony for four years then went to the Darling (New South Wales). He took charge of Phelps Brothers' station for 20 years, came to Altona in 1874. Married Mary McFie had two daughters (2 sons dead).

It is important to realise that this area up to 1888 was known as "Laverton

MMBW a 'toothless Tiger' says Crofts

The MMBW was a "toothless Tiger" powerless to act against pollution until actual pollution was evident, said Cr. Les Crofts at the Altona council meeting last week.

Cr. Crofts was speaking on MMBW proposals to take over control of drains in the Laverton North area, Kaye's Drain, leading into the north-west corner of the Altona West swamp through to Werribee and Cherry Drain.

"I feel sure these drains will finish as open sewers under MMBW control," Cr. Les Crofts said.

"These drains will in due course discharge effluent into Altona."

Just imagine Kaye's drain in 15 to 20 years. There will be more pollution and more industrial waste going into our bathing beach. I don't see how we can stop it if we take it sitting down."

Cr. Crofts' two-pronged motion was that council write to the Minister for on an amendment proposed by Cr. Harry Weaver.

Cr. Weaver's amendment was that the matter be deferred until the next general purpose meeting when an MMBW engineer could attend.

Cr. Weaver said Kaye's drain was previously not under any control.

"MMBW control is better than no control," he said.

City Engineer, Mr. Ralph Simmons, said he was in favor of the MMBW taking over the drains.

"The MMBW controls thousands of drains on the other side of the city and I can't see any harm being done."

"At least the MMBW will be responsible if something goes wrong."

Cr. Crofts: "The MMBW engineer has no authority to speak on behalf of the Board. How many times have we had the MMBW come here to do something about the Mulga Street and Civic Parade sewers?"

"Pollution is an 'in' word, but not in this council for the past six or seven months, and as long as I'm in council we're going to fight it."

Cr. Harry Weaver

Health, Minister for Local Government and local member Mr. Larry Floyd requesting a meeting on the matter, and that council advise the Premier it supports a new statute for water pollution control by an authority.

It was passed on a 6-3 vote, but only after the council had been split 5-4

Govt. gives $52,284 grant for school

The Commonwealth Government has approved a grant of $52,284 for a new science wing at Altona North High School.

The first postholes for which the equipment the new building were dug this week, by GT Construction of Carrum Downs.

The headmaster, Mr. Roberts, said he expected the building to be completed "sometime early in the new year".

The block will supply two additional classrooms has already been purchased.

Mr. Roberts said the additions would relieve the present "tight" accommodation.

Renovations to the staff room and the conversion of an existing room into a second library are also part of the plan.

Toast to the bride

Robert McCallman toasts his bride, Pearl, at a reception held at Talbot Hall, Williams-town, after their recent wedding at St. Eanswythe's Church of England, Altona.

The bride wore an embroidered organza dress, which featured a lace jacket and long train coupled with a lace pill box and long veil.

Matron of honor was her sister, Elizabeth Pleydell and bridesmaid was Sue Pike. Both wore dresses of purple chiffon the bride and Judy-Lynn Ferry, niece of the groom.

Pearl is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. McCallum of Stirling Avenue, Seaholme and Robert the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. McCallum of The Esplanade, Altona.

Best man was Mr. George McCallum, brother of the bride and Mr. Steve Mendelson.

The young couple are spending their honeymoon in Queensland.

COUNCIL BACKS FLUORIDATION

Altona council resolved by an 8-1 majority at its last meeting to support the Australian Dental Association in pressing for the fluoridation of Victoria's water supply.

It will write to the Premier, announcing its support to the Association and advising that fluoridation of the community water supply is necessary to prevent dental decay.

Moving this motion Cr. Les Crofts said fluoridation of the water supply was supported by the World Health Organisation and all states except Victoria and was recommended by scientist Sir MacFarlane Burnett.

"We should not let the opportunity slip by without passing a motion in support of fluoridation," he said.

Cr. Charlie Carlsson seconded the motion. He said he had spoken to a local doctor who had come from an English county where there was absolutely no tooth decay because of fluoridation.

Cr. Harry Weaver said he would oppose the motion, "I have checked with the MMBW and Victoria has the best water supply in Australia."

"The present situation allows people to have a choice. If they want fluor-idation they can attach a fitting to their taps.

"By voting for fluoridation we will be taking the choice away from the people. People can buy fluoridation from chemists, there are also certain side effects."

Cr. Pat Lynch: "Information received is from the highest authorities and we must take some notice. Dentists have been making a packet because of the lack of fluoridation."

Cr. Doug Grant: "I've also consulted with a local dentist who felt that council should support this move."

Cr. Crofts: "Nobody doubts we have a good water supply, but we also have a right to support this proposal for the health of the people."

"Fluoridation is not poisonous, it cannot affect the eyesight and will not cause haemophilia," he said.

Cr. Carlsson: "It's not fair to say fluoride will make the water unclean."

The motion was passed by eight votes to one with Cr. Weaver voting against

"If entirely by private car, the longest trip will be an hour. If entirely by public transport, the longest trip can be two hours."

"One teacher who uses public transport for part of the journey then gets a lift with another teacher for the remainder, takes 100 minutes for a one-way trip."

Consideration could be given to the running of an Education Department bus for teachers who have difficulty in reaching Altona High School.

A survey of needs might reveal that a block of flats in Altona solely for teachers would attract and retain teachers for periods longer than a year.

Effective publicity needs to be made of the virtues of Altona and the rewarding job teaching in Altona can be.

Altona youngsters win soccer cup

Altona City has won the Victorian under-14 soccer Cup final, beating Footscray J.U.S.T. 3-2 at Olympic Park.

It is the second time in three years that Altona has won the cup.

Playing without A. Hamill, who was injured, Altona was slow to settle down, and had many narrow escapes as J.U.S.T. piled on the pressure.

Then Altona broke away, and in a flash Downes had the ball in the back of the net for the first goal to Altona.

The team played with more confidence now, and opened up the game.

With long kicks down the middle Downes ran riot, and scored two more goals before half-time to make it 3-0 to Altona.

In the second half J.U.S.T. started with good soccer, and had Altona all at sea.

In no time at all J.U.S.T. had the ball in the net to make the score 3-2.

But Altona settled down again, and the game went from end to end as both teams tried all they knew to seal the game.

But time ran out without any more goals being scored, and an excited Altona team left the field to the cheers of the large crowd that had come from Altona to cheer the boys on.

Best for Altona were S. Burns, G. Reilly and A. Downes with his three goals.

Memories in tent folds

Harold Morwick, sat in his workshop amidst the canvas folds of a half-made tent, and thought back over the different faces and changes he had seen in the city during the past 70 years.

"I remember when sailors went wild when they hit Williamstown, and there were knife fights in the streets. In those days there were Chinese laundries, fish shops, and stores full of clothes for seamen all along here in Nelson Place," he said, looking rather sadly out into the quiet street.

Mr. Morwick won't admit to any age — "If I let you write that," he said, "everyone would point at me and ask if I was really as old as all that."

He took over the sail-making business at 137 Nelson Place, from his father in 1940. He had learnt the trade as a boy, before joining the Railways as an upholsterer, and later running an orchard near Swan Hill.

"By-and-large, the day of the small business like mine is over," he said. "I make quite a good living by catering for a demand where big firms have no interest."

Mr. Morwick maintains that his tent-renting business is very lucrative, mainly because he lives above his workshop, and is home at weekends and evenings to handle the trade. "Big businesses could not afford the labor to operate after hours like this."

His advice to anyone trying to run a small business is to cater for the trade where big firms either can't compete, or are not interested.

As well as tent-renting, which can bring in as much as $1500 a month in the holiday season, Mr. Morwick does a lot of work for the waterfront people — making and re-town with the excitement of the waterfront.

"Most of us still know each other in Williamstown, though this friendly attitude is breaking down," he said rather sadly. "But I predict that the city's future will always be bright."

Mr. Harold Morwick, a familiar face to most Williamstown inhabitants, supervises one of his staff through the complicated process of making a tent at his workshop in Nelson Place.

pairing boat covers and sails.

In fact, he makes all types of goods "from verandah blinds to ... well, almost anything."

During the war years, the firm made several thousand tents and marquees for the army.

At one stage, Mr. Morwick had a staff of 17, whereas now he employs only two. He instituted an assembly line system, and his firm soon earned a reputation with the Department of Supply as "the fastest firm in Melbourne."

He recalls one of his biggest war-time projects — "It was a field hospital marquee, and it took a one-ton truck to cart it away. It was about 150 feet long, as far as I can remember. There certainly was some work in it."

Mr. Morwick has always loved the atmosphere of Williamstown, which, he says combines the quietness of a country

Catering will be arranged by the Associates committee.

Tickets are $2 each and can be obtained at the club.

The curtain rises

The inhabitants and visitors in 'Semi-Detached' will make very interesting neighbors at 2-4 Albert Street from November 25 to December 5.

You will meet Les Ter-rill, who was the Moomba best actor and Williamstown Cordell award winner making his first appearance since his return from an overseas trip.

He will be supported by Irene Stephenson. Irene's last role was Helen in The Taste Of Honey, which was highly praised by critics.

Eileen Price and Nola Finn were last seen in The Duenna. They are joined by Lesley Birks, a young actress from The Tin Alley Players.

Garry Metcalf, Peter Egan, Steven Moore and young 'Viaduct Theatre' player, Kelvin Narmon cause a great deal of trouble for the girls.

If you want to know what goes on behind those closed doors, push across those respectable lace curtains and you will find out.

Seats can be purchased from S. Marr's Music Shop, Ferguson Street, from Monday, November, 16.

The tickets are $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. Coffee and tea is available at interval in pleasant surroundings. A working bee will be held on Saturday, November, 21. Members and subscribers are needed to assist in cleaning the theatre.

"Spellathon"

Pupils of the Altona North primary school will soon be taking part in a "Spellathon."

Parents are asked to sponsor their child for one or two cents per word correctly spelt. The money raised will be used to start-off the new Reading scheme.

A very successful fancy dress party was recently organised by the Mothers' Club.

It's no better than 1888

"It appears we've still got the same trains, because they're still parked at the station," Cr. Bill Sommers said at the council meeting last week.

He was commenting on an article in a daily newspaper which said November 9 was the 82nd birthday of the Altona line.

"The first train ran from Spencer Street on November 9, 1888," the report said.

"In those days the promoters talked of Altona Beach - the fashionable seaside resort. It was looked upon as the coming rival for Brighton and St. Kilda."

Cr. Sommers, who holds the council's transport and communications portfolio, is not at all impressed with the state of Altona's trains.

On the paragraph concerning Altona beach, Cr. Sommers said: "It is a pity that Altona has dropped this image. Prince Charles should be invited

Newport fails to recover

Newport First XI never recovered after losing two wickets for no runs in the first over against Highett last Saturday.

Wickets were thrown away right, left and centre on the well-grassed local oval, as the batsmen seemed to have left their concentration in the dressing room.

In Newport's poor total of 93, the one shining light was opener Ray Bamford's unbeaten 42. It was a tremendous innings and all plaudits to "Bubbles" for his great performance in carrying the bat through the innings.

Ron Clarke made 19 in fine style, until he too became a member of the "lost concentration club."

In what could be an interesting finish next week, Newport have the opposition four for 54. Tom Russell 2/28, Roly Nicholson 1/2 and Graham Clark 1/6 were the successful trundlers and full marks to Warren Diamond, who held on to a sizzling slash at point.

In Newport second XI's reasonable first innings total of 160, Neil Donlen (38), Laurie Swanson (37), Billy Stevenson (28) and Ken Parker (21) all appeared set for bigger tallies when they were dismissed. Young Billy Harrison contributed 14, built was the same old story of too much being left to too few to make runs. Another tight finish appears likely in this match, as Highett were 2 for 35 at stumps, with George Malogusis 1 for 9 and Neil Donlen completing a good day with 1 for 18.

Newport club XI bowlers, Archie Lloyd, 5/27, Dick Roberts 3/7, Tom Barresi 1/37 and Nick Apostilides 1/1, had a field-day against Spotswood Imps batsmen, who could only must 74 in their first innings. In reply, Newport have already hit the front with the scoreboard showing 4 for 84 at stumps. Bill Humphries is in good form with 34 n.o. Tom Barresi has 17 and Gavin Walsh 12.

Homing club

The 550-mile pigeon race on Saturday from Carleton was flown under ideal racing conditions. Times were fast and returns good.

Results: Harry le Blanc, 1641, 7 p.m.; Gordon Whittle, 1590, 7 p.m.; Robert Murphy, 1504, 7 p.m.; Karl Morlane, 1499, 7 p.m.
This was the final race for the season.

'BLUE SHADOW' IS FOUND

In reply to the question 'Where are those Blue Shadows?' in the ALTONA STAR on November 4, Mr. J. Sietz wrote a letter which gives the answer.

According to Mr. Sietz, used to play with Slim who is 'booking manager' of The Blue Shadows, the group has reformed and now includes only one of the original members.

He is John Sterling, who was The "Shads" former lead guitarist, and he now plays rhythm and doubles on lead.

The new group includes "Cassettes" members D. Robinson (lead guitar), N. Medley (percussion), W. Seitz (bass) and D. Cole on vocals.

Their new lead guitarist used to play with Slim Dusty's Buckeroos not long ago.

The drummer is ex-Falcons, the bassist is ex-Keyboards, the vocalist is ex-Maze, and the rhythmist is ex-Fugitives.

This group, or band as it prefers to be called has lately been working at private functions and getting occasional hotel work.

This is the reason many people have not seen them in action at dances.

Demonstration

Ladies are invited to a feather demonstration and coffee morning at the home of Mrs. Eden Heriot, 91 Esplanade, Altona, tonight (Wednesday), at 10.30 a.m.

This function, organised by the Altona Hospital Auxiliary, is the latest activity in the group's fund-raising efforts for the hospital.

Last month a successful barbecue-social evening was held at the home of another member, Mrs. Dulcie Shaw of Seaholme.

Those present joined in the sing-alongs with John Newton and Mrs. Mae Stringer at the piano.

Final effort for this year will be a Christmas function in December at Koorlingal Golf Club when the winner will be drawn for the Monster Christmas Stocking being raffled by the auxiliary.

PAUL CURRAN TOPS IN LITTLE ATHS.

St. Mary's under-11 star Paul Curran dominated the boys' events at Altona Little Athletics Centre's recent meeting, winning the triple jump, 100 metres and 800 metres.

Robyn Osborne, outstanding under-12 athlete of Westonia, also completed a winning treble in the long jump 200 and 400 metres.

Lynda Clement, Altona North, Stephen Smith Westonia and Neil Condon, Seaholme, each completed a winning double.

Covering a distance of 3.69 metres in the under-10 long jump, Neil broke the existing record.

The other records broken were:

Under-10 girls high jump W. Vanderveen (S) 1.14; under-11 girls discuss J. Abfalter (SM) 16.40; under-9 girls 200 metres D. Martin (AN) 34.1; under-9 girls 70 metres D. Ridge (SM) 11.1; under-10 girls 200 metres L. Cave (AN) 32.7; Under-10 girls 800 metres walk C. Bentley (AN) 5.25.

Performances on Saturday that will establish records for the under-13 age groups, who are in their first season of competition are:

Under-13 girls 800 metres walk L. Clement (AN) 4.54.1; under-13 girls 100 metres P. Jowett (AN) 14.3; under-13 boys triple jump J. O'Donohue (W) 9.10; under-13 boys 800 metres W. Gilpin (SM) 2.31.

The regional relay championships which were to be held at Corio on Sunday were cancelled, due to the heavy thunderstorm in the Geelong district.

The championships are now scheduled for Corio next Sunday, at the same time as arranged last Sunday.

There could be some criticism over the postponement of this event, for the Corio Athletic Field has an all-weather track similar to Olympic Park.

However, the reason given by the ground management and the organisers is that damage could have been caused to new landscaping in surrounding areas.

Altona Centre coach, Mr. J. Curran requests all members of the relay teams to attend training at Grant Reserve on Thursday at 5 p.m.

Altona at home to Seddon lost the toss and were sent in to bat on a good wicket, but under conditions suitable to swing bowling.

Jim Joyce, following on his brilliant 99 the previous week, opened the innings with Wayne Patton and, although the over rate was extremely slow, 13 runs were added in the first three overs before Joyce, in trying to glance the ball, got a top edge and was out, caught.

Roy Evans joined Patton and with both of them batting well, the score climbed to 62 before a change in the bowling saw Evans edge a ball to slip.

The bowling at this stage was tight and accurate, and combined with some excellent fielding, the next 4 Altona wickets were lost with the addition of only 20 runs. Ron Cook and Rodney Gray stopped the rot with a partnership of 21. Cook then started going for the runs and with the assistance of the tail enders, was able to take the score to 131 before Altona was dismissed.

With an hour's play remaining Altona were anxious to achieve a quick breakthrough. Such was not the case, however, as the Seddon openers proved very stubborn. However the opening attack of Wilson and Gray could achieve little penetration. The change bowlers, Cook and Hancock, were introduced into the attack but they too found wickets hard to come by.

With the score at 48, a quick piece of fielding by Graeme Hosken caught Walters out of
